

Abstract

A keyboard controller can parse all the data and commands. Further, the parsed commands and data are processed to hardware or firmware/micro-controller. This, therefore, can reduce the complexity
5 of the firmware of keyboard controller. By using the keyboard controller, the provided keyboard controller can enhance flexibility and efficiency for command and data processes. More, the complexity of the required firmware is reduced.